THANKS! To all those who decided to stay on for another term, and to those who stepped up for the first time, I guarantee you're going to have fun! It takes a bunch of dedicated people to keep the club running smoothly and to organize fun events for our members.

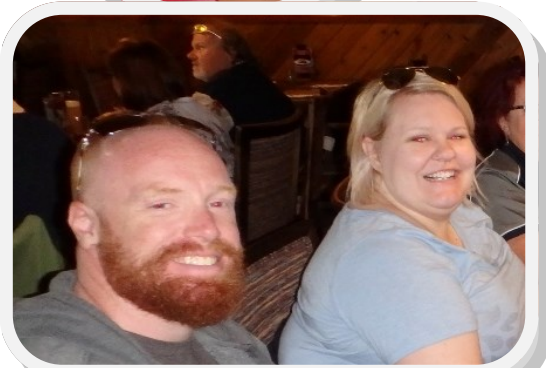

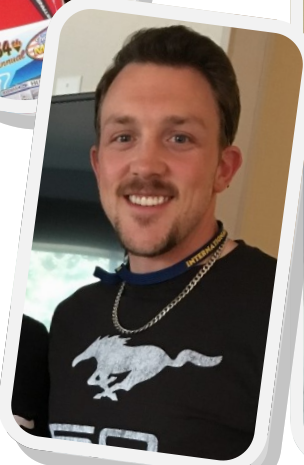

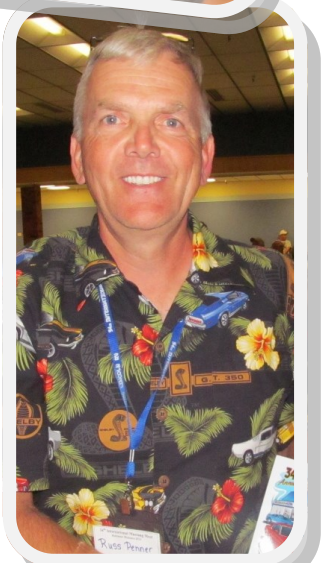

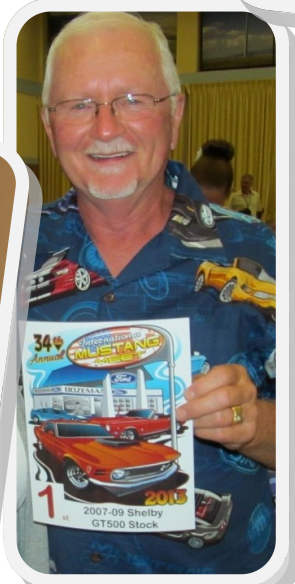

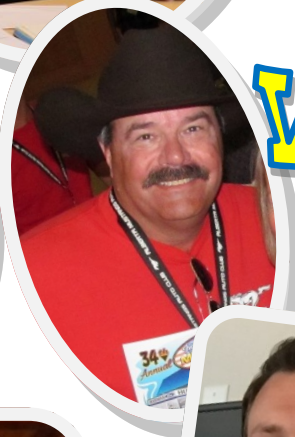

Thank a volunteer next time you get the chance!

YOUR NEW 2020 AMAC EXECUTIVE

Volunteers!

President's report A.K.A.

The Thomson Tribune

So, this is it. This is the one. Come on Scott, this report has to be a gooder! Out with a bang or so they say. Unique, fresh, and let's hope somewhat relevant.

Hey, I've got a great idea!

T'was the night before Christmas, when in the Thomson house,

Not a V-8 was burbling, not even the Roush.

Wait wait wait, back up the car....that one's been done. Don't fret, I do have some more ideas!

Beer? – fermented barley, go go inspector Scott juice, nectar of the gods – Nahhh, you have all heard about me and beer for far too long. Great topic, but probably better reserved for a time when we can actually sit down and enjoy one! What are you all doing later? Lol!

Weather? – Yay! There's a ground breaker! Guess what? There's snow on the ground, and the cars are parked for the next few months. Living in the Great White North.....nothing new there. Sigh.

Politics? – Holy, that's a hot button topic these days. Impeachment, Blackface, Liberal, Right Wing, taxes...the list goes on and on. Opinions will range widely from person to person, and will be best discussed with a whole bunch of that aforementioned beer. All agreed? Hahah!

New Cars? – There we go! Recently there has been introductions of some very exciting Mustangs, including the 2020 GT500 with 760 HP, and the all electric Mach E. The all new GT500 on the S550 chassis is incredible and is already considered to be the fastest Mustang ever produced, meanwhile becoming a true sports car as it can turn corners as well. The DCT transmission can shift in like 80 milliseconds, and although the DCT is not a deal breaker for me personally, I still would much rather prefer a manual. It's the 100K+ price tag that makes it a complete deal breaker for me...maybe in the next century. Double Sigh.

However, it's the all electric Mach E that has most people buzzing. As we know, all new versions of the GT500 will always surpass their predecessors and is not overly surprising. An all electric four door SUV? Now that was totally unexpected! While most will argue that using the Mustang name on a SUV is sacrilegious, and dilutes the Mustang brand, I believe it was a very bold statement from the Ford Motor Company based on their performance expectations of the Mach E. What remains to be seen however, is if the Mach E will live up to those expectations. Reports are that the First Editions are already sold out, even though deliveries will not occur until late 2020! As I'm a true petrohead, the idea of owning an electric car was not even a thought in my gray matter, until this Mach E. I'm not sure if it's because they called it a

Mustang, or because it's the first exciting all electric vehicle that is not a Tesla. Up to this point, they have all been compliance vehicles, econoboxes in every sense, or hybrid versions that would only be exciting for the first 50 miles of travel until the batteries depleted – BMW i8, Porsche 918, Le Ferrari etc. We must all remember that the Mach E is merely an addition to the Mustang line-up, and is not replacing the 2 door, rear drive, long hood, short deck car that we all know and love. If you were in the market for an all electric daily SUV, wouldn't it be cool to have a Mustang inspired one parked next to your Mustang in the garage vs a Hyundai or Kia? Especially one that will accelerate faster than 90% of the other vehicles on the roads? I sure think so. Make mine Grabber Blue!!

As one of my last acts as President, I tried to go out with a complete “KABLAM” and embrace the all new electric Mustang by changing the historic AMAC name to AMASUVC. Try it, as it actually does roll off the tongue, Alberta Mustangs And Sport Utility Vehicle Club. (AMA-SUV-C) Thankfully, it was voted down at like 600 to 1, and I was laughed off the stage! Kidding, hahahah!

Seriously, and all kidding aside, I have really enjoyed my tenure as President. It has been a really awarding experience and will have an impact on all my future aspirations. Never have I been surrounded by such passionate and talented people, and it still amazes me to this day that this is just a group of people who have come to together to appreciate a car. Although, and I'm sure that most of you will agree with me, that the Mustang is much more than a car, and is truly a lifestyle. I really must thank all the people that have helped and guided me over the last few years, and I apologize if my style did not fit the mold of a typical “club” however it's obvious this is no typical club either! This is merely just a changing of the guard, and as I'm really not going anywhere, I do still get to enjoy all the people and comradery that makes our little group what it is. Jim Bateman, and all the new and existing members of the executive will undoubtedly continue the incredible traditions of AMAC for the future, meanwhile creating exciting new ones. I can't wait to see what in store!

In the meantime, Happy Holidays, Merry Christmas, Happy Hanukkah, and Feliz Navidad to everyone! And a happy new year! Lol! NOW let the beer flow!

See you all soon!

Scott

From the archives...

More than 1.5 million Americans have taken the Mustang pledge.

For all the standard reasons.
And over 100 optional ones.

The standard reasons include items like floor-mounted stick shift and wall-to-wall carpeting. Items you'd have to pay extra for in many other cars. And with all this, Mustang is still America's lowest priced sports car with bucket seats!

How about Mustang options? Well, there are more than 100 offered so that you can personalize your Mustang.

You can get Stereo tape, air-conditioning, center console, Tilt-Away steering wheel. V-8's up to 390 cubic inches, and SelectShift, the automatic that also works like a manual. To name just a few. And they're all available on any Mustang—fastback, convertible, or hardtop. Why not see your Ford Dealer? He's the expert on Mustang—the car designed to be designed by you.

MUSTANG

My Magnificent Mustangs 1975-2019

By: Don Horn—AMAC's new 2020 VP

1975 - My first Mustang a 1966 Coupe

Bought this 1966 coup from a lady who worked at Peter's Drive In the fall of 1975. It came with the 289, 3 speed standard and a rare bench seat.

My attempt of modifications including an Emerald Green paint job, installed the drive train and bucket seats from a wrecked 1972 Mach 1, that's why the rear wheels stick out so far. The 351 Cleveland with a four-speed standard was a scary car to drive (especially in the winter). Had to sell her in 1980.

2002 - Our second Mustang a 2002 GT Convertible

We factory ordered this Green 2002 GT convertible from Maclin Ford in Calgary and took delivery on April 2002. This one we modified with a Super Charger, upgrades suspension, upgraded exhaust, new rims and tires. Sold it June 2019.

My Magnificent Mustangs 1975-2019 Cont'd

2008 - Our Third Mustang a 2006

Shelby GTH

We bought this Shelby GT-H from Universal Ford in January 2008. This is number 159 of 500 and is the 40th anniversary of the Shelby Rent-A-Racer program that was started in 1966. This car was rented in Las Vegas before it arrived in Calgary. A real head turner and a blast to drive.

2011 - Our Fourth Mustang & First Restoration a 1966 Shelby GT350 H Tribute

We bought a 1965 2+2 donor car in Edmonton in the spring of 2011 so we could have the sister to the 2006 Shelby. It was our first and probably our last restoration of a vehicle, but I'm glad we tried it. We had the restoration done by 2013 and the car was on the road. One my favorite Mustang body styles of all time and a fun car to drive (old school!!) Sold it to a car guy in Vancouver in 2018.

This story will be continued in the February newsletter—stay tuned...

Mustang Trivia

DID YOU KNOW...

- * Although Steve McQueen was credited with the driving during the chase sequence, it was actually shared by McQueen and Bud Ekins, one of Hollywood's best stunt drivers. From the interior shots looking forward inside the Mustang, it's easy to see which one is driving. When McQueen is driving, the rear view mirror is down reflecting his face. When Ekins is driving it is up, so his face is hidden.
- * Bullitt's reverse burnout during the chase scene actually wasn't in the script; Steve McQueen had mistakenly missed the turn. The footage was still kept, though.
- * Two Mustangs and two Dodge Chargers were used for the famous chase scene. Both Mustangs were owned by the Ford Motor Company and part of a promotional loan agreement with Warner Brothers. The cars were modified for the high-speed chase by veteran auto racer Max Balchowsky. Stunt Coordinator Carey Loftin got Bud Ekins to drive the Mustang for the bulk of the stunts. Both of the Dodges were junked after the filming, as was one of the Mustangs. The other less banged-up Mustang was purchased by a Warner Brothers employee after all production and post-production was completed. The car ended up in New Jersey a few years later, where Steve McQueen attempted to buy it. The owner refused to sell, and the car now sits in a barn, and has not been driven until recently when it was used by Ford to promote the 2018 "Bullitt" Mustang when revealed at the Detroit international auto show.
- * Steve McQueen based his character on San Francisco Homicide Inspector Dave Toschi, made famous for his work on the Zodiac killings. McQueen had a copy made of Toschi's custom fast-draw shoulder holster.
- * Director Peter Yates called for speeds of about 75 to 80 miles (120 to 129 kilometers) per hour, but the cars (including the ones containing the cameras) reached speeds of over 110 miles (177 kilometers) per hour. Filming of the chase scene took three weeks, resulting in nine minutes and forty-two seconds of footage. They were denied permission to film on the Golden Gate Bridge.
